"It's hard to do a drive-by on your feet"
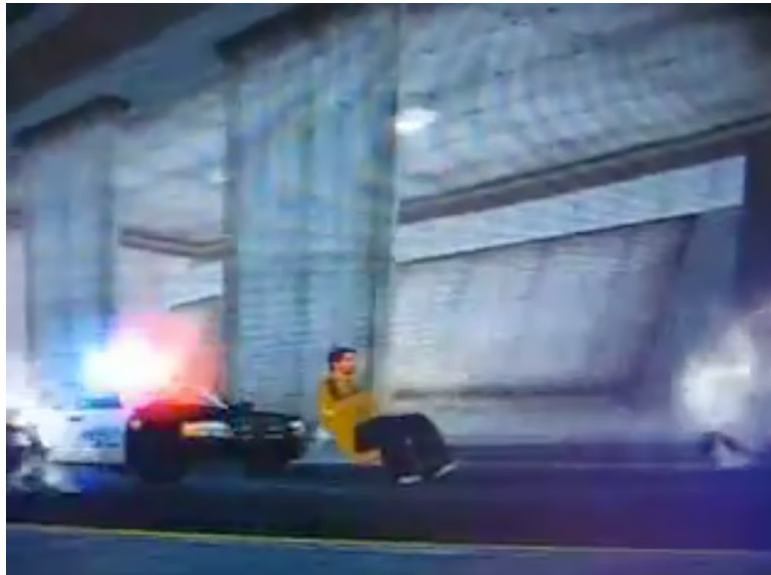

Perhaps the only ever musical that's about a buggy piece of software. From the inimitable Cabel Sasser, this 2006 video about Saints Row, with three songs and a goddamn reprise at the end.

It's very good.

> my car door's freaking out > it seems to be forever in the concrete barricade > I wonder how I'm ever gonna drive away > this really is isn't my day > the sparks are flying > people dying
> metal frying > and I wonder if there's more to life > or if I'll find that this is really it > this game is a piece of work
